“Firebird has been right at the heart of this theatre for many years. They’re an extraordinary ensemble whose bold productions resonate far and wide. Firebird tells big stories that matter to everyone.”

Emma Stenning, Executive Director, Bristol Old Vic

Firebird Theatre is a company of 18 disabled actors based in Bristol. We are the first company to have been made an associate of Bristol Old Vic.

Firebird Theatre relies on help and support from lots of people in many different ways, such as supporting the commitment of Company members; providing help with transport; offering advice and giving expertise; attending performances, workshops and meetings; believing in us and what we do. This support is invaluable and goes beyond what money can buy.

Now, for the first time, Firebird is asking for extra support to help us fund our rehearsals, our performances, our tours, our workshops and outreach projects.

Firebird does not receive any regular funding and has to rely on grants and donations to fund everything it does; in the present climate it is very difficult to find the funds we need to develop our work.

How much should I give?

Please give whatever you can afford. All regular donations will make a huge difference to us; every penny of your donation will go towards our work.

How will my donation help?

Your donation will help us to create more theatre for everyone; reach and involve more people through our work; develop more and more personal and professional partnerships;

challenge and change the way people think about disabled people, particularly disabled people with learning difficulties, and include more disabled people in the work we do.
